

Message from Mr Mellen

We are creeping ever closer to the end of Year 11's time at Cedar Mount as most major exams end next week and they will then be allowed to stay off school unless they have particular exams or assessments to complete. We are very proud of all of the efforts they and staff have been putting in and we look forward to celebrating improved results when they are published in August. Well done to our very talented students who took part in Turning Tides performance at Victoria Baths last week – you were brilliant! We have also had visits from the Salam Project and a great trip to Leeds University. It is great that students are offered such a range of experiences which are so important in building confidence and enjoyment of education. Lots more to come before term ends. Don't forget that we are still looking at attendance and lateness to see who is eligible for our rewards trips to Blackpool and Alton Towers in July. Be here or miss out!

Hidden Histories project with Enjoy Arts

The collaborative Humanities project with Enjoy Arts came to an end last week and culminated in a sterling performance at Victoria Baths during half term. Since January students have been pooling their knowledge, skills and ideas and been focusing on writing and producing a play based on the battle for women's suffrage - 'Turning Tides - First in the Fight'.

Here's what the girls who participated had to say,

'The project has made me feel so proud of myself it has been inspiring to be part of womens history.' - Esohe YIO

'I used to be shy but becoming involved has made me much more confident about speaking in public and given me the confidence to speak up in class. It's made me passionate and proud to be a young women in 2018.' - Shanena YIO

The girls performed to rave reviews and received a standing ovation - a big thanks to Clare, Ruth and Trixi from Enjoy Arts for giving the girls such a wonderful opportunity. We hope to work with you again soon.

Meet Steven Leach from Careers Connect

Hi my name is Steve Leach, I am a careers advisor working in Cedar to provide information, advice and guidance about your education, training and work. I'm always on hand to help identify options for suitable careers, write a CV and covering letter or help assist with applications for jobs or college courses. I work with Miss Harrison and want the best for pupils and their future. Throughout the rest of the summer term I will be continuing my Y10 careers group work. These sessions will focus on post 16 pathways along with specific information on getting into specialist careers such as medicine, law, accountancy etc. I will also be available for a careers drop-in on Wednesday lunchtimes in the library. Please pop in for a chat and good luck to Y10 who begin work experience at the end of the month.
